SLEUTHS GUARD PRESIDENT TAFT

They Have Redoubled Their Vigilance.

SHOOT FIRST AND QUESTION LATER

This Is Order Received by Detectives.

Extra Precaution Is Taken Since the Attempted Assassination of Mayor Gaynor—Publication of Such an Outrage Serves To Give Further Incentive to Cranks All Over the Country

Beverly Mass Aug 11—Since the attempted assassination of Mayor William J Gaynor in Hoboken the secret service operatives guarding President Taft have redoubled their vigilance The chief executive is not out of their sight for a moment, while every person approaching him is carefully scrutinized It has been the experience of the guards that publication of such an outrage as that upon the mayor of New York gives to give further incentive to cranks all over the country and the president becomes a shining mark for the eccentric or lunatic

Two secret service men have always been on duty at the presidents cottage here One has patrolled the front of the house and the other the rear day and night When the president goes motoring the secret service men have usually followed in an equally fast automobile But since the shooting of Mayor Gaynor an additional guard rides on the step of the presidents car

Men Well Armed.

Each of these men is armed with automatic forty-four caliber pistols and they are under orders to shoot first and ask questions later

A secret service man is always at the president s side while he golfs over the Myopia links, another looks over all those who have business at the Taft cottage Even society dowagers who call upon Mrs Taft have to wait down the road while the secret service men call up the house and ascertain whether their names appear on Mrs Tafts engagement book Mrs Taft receives callers only by engagement

Even when the president goes on board the Mayflower or the Sylph for a little yachting trip, a secret operative is on board

Colonel Roosevelt used to say that the secret service operatives detailed at the White House were the finest body of men in the United States employ The eight who take turns at guarding the president at Beverly are picked men—picked for their discretion, faithfulness and physical stamina Every one of them is a crack pistol shot

FIRE THREATENS NATIONAL PARK

Flames Creep Toward Beautiful Yellowstone.

THE WILD ANIMALS FLEE FROM DANGER

Thousands of Elk, Deer and Moose Are Seen.

They Troop Down the Mountains into the Valleys Where They Have Never Before Been at This Season of the Year—Much Game Is Believed To Have Been Burned to Death Already.

Butte, Mont Aug 11—A forest fire that threatens to do incalculable damage to the Yellowstone national park is being fought by three companies of United States regular troops, stationed in the park assisted by several score of forest rangers and volunteer fire fighters

Advices from Montana towns near the park indicate that the fire is still raging fiercely The fire caught some of the big trees in the park and simultaneously swept into the timber on St Marys and Bell mountains The commander of the Yellowstone park troops was at once notified and hurried his men to the scene of the blaze The fire-fighters were able to subdue the St Marys and Bell mountain fires, but it is feared that the Yellowstone fire will be more serious

Some of the finest standing timber in the country is located in the Yellowstone forests

The fire has not affected tourist travel but a large area in the park is being burned, which affects both the water sheds and the game in the park Three separate fires started in the park simultaneously Two of these were reported under control, but the third near Yellowstone lake, is still raging fiercely

Animals in Panic.

Two hundred soldiers are fighting this fire, back-firing and banking to prevent the spread of the flames through the underbrush So serious has the situation at this point become that Major Benson superintendent of the park, has been called to the scene with all available men The troops say they expect to control the fire within two days

Thousands of elk, deer and moose can be seen coming down the mountains into the valleys where they have never before been at this season of the year Officers believe much of the game has been burned to death in attempting to get higher up in the mountains instead of coming down Tourists who happened to be near Lake Yellowstone could see hundreds of wild animals fleeing in panic from the forest fires on the mountain sides and making for the open places in the park and the Wyoming and Montana hills

It is believed that fires, even if checked promptly will greatly mar the beauty of the park

The Estimate.

Missoula, Mont, Aug 11—The forest service office here, yesterday estimated that approximately 200,000 acres of timber have been burned over by the forest fires Reports indicate that through the aid of the soldiers from Missoula and Fort Harrison the rangers have gained control of all the fires except in the Clearwater and Coeur d Alene forests in Idaho

Until an examination can be made Assistant Forester Silcox can not make a definite estimate of the loss, which will depend upon whether the big trees were burned so badly that they can not be used for lumber The damage is known however, to have been very heavy

Orders Battalion Out.

Washington, Aug 11—In response to a request from the forest service for aid in forest fires Major General Leonard Wood today directed that a battalion of the Fourteenth infantry now at American Lake, Washington be ordered at once to Coeur d'Alene Idaho where forest fires are raging

Reports received at the forest service today, say that all the forest fires, with the exception of Coeur d Alene, have been controlled and it is expected that this will soon be extinguished with the aid of the soldiers

Considerable anxiety is felt here because of the possibility of the fires again breaking out as no rain has been reported in the affected district

Every feature of the work of the two commissions as applied to both Canada and the United States will be considered by the two chairmen in order to discover how a plan applicable to both countries can be worked out This will be a gigantic task and it is unlikely that even a preliminary report can be completed for some time

Chairman Knapp stated that his commission has completed all arrangements for the going into effect of the new railroad law on August 18 and that there will be no hitch in its operation

NO SPECIAL RATES TO THE OHIO STATE FAIR

Railroads Turn Down Request of State Fair Board.

Columbus O Aug 11—The railroads have turned down the request of the state fair board for special rates They have done this regularly ever since the passage of the 2 cent law making two cents the rate for a mile for passenger traffic. Every year the board asks for this concession and every time the railroads refuse it

It seems to be a case of getting even with the state for passing the bill But the strangest part of the attitude of the railroads is that they will furnish trains free to carry agriculture lecturers over the state These lecturers are sent out by the board The railroads want to develop the rural districts because of the extra business this brings them The state fair seeks to accomplish that end, too, by encouraging the development of agriculture and this is what makes the position of the railroads appear inconsistent

AVIATOR DROPS ON SPECTATORS

Brookins Has a Mishap at Asbury Park.

A YOUNG BOY IS FATALLY INJURED

Shrieks of Terror Rise from Onlookers.

Aviator Is Badly Bruised by Fatty-Foot Fall and Is Taken from the Wreckage in Unconscious Condition—Seven Persons Hurt When Machine Plunges Downward To Escape Hurting a Camera Man.

Asbury Park N J Aug 11—During the first hour of the opening of the 10 day aviation meet here Walter Brookins, the youthful pupil of the Wright brothers who on July 9 at Atlantic City climbed to the record height of 6 275 feet and then coasted safely to earth with his power shut off crashed into a crowd of spectators from a height of 50 feet

Seven persons besides Brookins were injured One 14 year old boy, named George Burnett of Spring Lake was crushed beneath the framework of the lower part of the main planes of the machine and had his skull fractured and his hip broken He was removed to the Long Branch hospital The boy probably will die

When Brookins was found beneath the tangle of the torn plane fabric and splintered framework and wires, he lay on the sod of the aviation field with his face in a pool of blood and his right hand still grasping the steering lever He was thought to be dead as he was dragged out of the wreck by Chief of Police Sexton and Private Henry Kruschkna of the Third infantry New Jersey National Guard While being carried into the hospital, only a few feet away however, the aviator began to groan and as Dr Taylor of the Asbury Park free dispensary leaned over him in the hospital tent Brookins asked weakly How did it happen?"

Nose Is Broken.

The doctors say that a superficial examination showed that Brookins has a broken nose a severely lacerated head and face his eyes are closed and he has general bruises about the body The doctors do not expect fatal results from his fall

Brookins said later that his fall was due to efforts he was making while descending to avoid a crowd of camera men and other spectators grouped on the aviation field a few feet in front of the north end of the uncovered grandstand The wind caught the lower edge of the highest edge of the planes and the machine momentarily stood on edge in midair and then headed straight downward and crumpled into a cracking heap of wreckage

Shrieks of terror arose from the onlookers men and women crouched and with upraised hands seemed to try to ward off the weight bearing toward them

SAYS RICE KILLED BY RUSSIAN GUN

Cleveland Police Go Back To the Revenge Theory.

Cleveland O Aug 11—That William L Rice millionaire attorney, was slain by a personal enemy and not by highwaymen was the testimony adduced at the inquest of the coroner George H Freeman, expert in charge of the gun and ammunition department of the W B Ingham Hardware company examined the bullet that caused Rices death and afterwards declared the revolver with which the millionaire was murdered to have been a Russian model 44 caliber such as is used most exclusively in gallery shooting The cartridges used in revolvers of this kind discharge themselves with a muffled sound and yet are as deadly as others containing many times as much powder

That a Russian model revolver was used to kill Rice firmly convinces the authorities that revenge was the motive for the slaying They believe that no highwayman would use such a weapon nor would chicken thieves arm themselves with a gun of this sort They claim that such a revolver would be used by an enemy who wanted to make sure that the bullets would produce fatal results

BUMPER CROPS GROWN BY FARMERS OF OHIO

Wheat, Corn and Oats Are Doing Excellently.

THE WHEAT CROP IS PARTICULARLY GOOD

Long List of Counties Shows That the Harvest Is Far Beyond the Normal—Hay Is in Need of Rain. The Fruit Reports Discouraging. Very Light Returns.

The following report, showing percentage prospect of crops, named, is based upon reports received from the regular crop correspondents of the Ohio department of agriculture:

Wheat—Prospect compared with normal yield, ninety-six per cent.; average date of harvest, July 10.

Oats—Prospect compared with normal yield, 108 per cent.; average date of harvest, July 23.

Barley—Average date of harvest, July 1.

Rye—Average date of harvest, July 12.

Clover—Area sown in 1909 cut for hay, eighty-three per cent.; hay, product per acre, 1.53 tons; quality compared with an average, ninety-four per cent.

Timothy — Prospect compared with normal yield, eighty-two per cent.

Potatoes—Prospect compared with normal yield, seventy-nine per cent.

Tobacco — Condition compared with an average, eighty-three per cent.

Pastures — Condition compared with an average, eighty-six per cent.

Apples—Prospect compared with normal yield, thirty-eight per cent.

Peaches—Prospect compared with normal yield, forty-two per cent.

Pears—Prospect compared with normal yield, forty-four per cent.

Grapes—Prospect ompared with last year, fifty-one per cent.

Berries—Product compared with last year, fifty-seven per cent.

With threshing well advanced, correspondents estimate that the average yield of wheat per acre for state as a whole will be approximately 14½ bushels or ninety-six per cent. in comparison to a normal yield of fifteen bushels per acre, represented by 100 per cent. One month ago it was estimated 1,682,874 acres would be harvested. This should produce 24,401,673 bushels, an increase of 841,437 bushels over the July estimate. This is approximately three million bushels short of the estimated 1909 harvest. The prospective yield varies greatly over the state. Ashtabula county should produce the banner yield per acre, while Jackson county has the poorest prospect.

Following are counties and percentage estimates, reporting average yield per acre, normal or better:

Ashland, 119; Ashtabula, 144; Clark, 108; Columbiana, 117; Crawford, 109; Cuyahoga, 128; Delaware, 108; Erie, 112; Fulton, 121; Geauga, 142; Hamilton, 103; Holmes, 102; Huron, 107; Lake, 110; Licking, 106; Lorain, 109; Mahoning, 117; Medina, 112; Mercer, 111; Miami, 117; Morrow, 100; Ottawa, 105; Portage, 113; Sandusky, 102; Seneca, 107; Stark, 110; Summit, 119; Trumbull, 135; Van Wert, 100; Warren, 103; Wayne, 126; Williams, 116; Wood, 111; Wyandot, 112.

Compared with last year the harvest is one week late.

Oats have advanced four points since July report, prospect being now estimated at 108 per cent. compared with normal yield. Complaints general of crop being badly lodged. Some damage by rust reported. Present indications are that the harvest will equal, if not excell, the abundant one of 1909.

Correspondents' references to corn are most encouraging. In some sections of the state, crop is suffering for rain.

Clover hay is of excellent quality. The average production per acre is approximately one and one-half tons. Pastures are in fair condition. Rain is needed.

Fruit prospects discouraging. Percentage estimates following: Apples, thirty-eight; peaches, forty-two; pears, forty-four; grapes, fifty-one. Compared with last year, berry product is estimated at fifty-seven per cent.

BENJAMIN STARKEY SUFFERS ACCIDENT

Hit Over Right Eye by a Bolt and Badly Scalded.

FOR TIME IT'S FEARED THAT SIGHT IS LOST

Accident Occurs at the Farm of Sanford Seckel, West of This City, Saturday—Starkey Is Much Improved Now—Believed Injuries Will Not Be Permanent.

Benjamin Starkey, an engineer with a threshing outfit, who resides with his brother at Morral, was the victim of a serious accident while working about his engine on the Sanford Seckel farm, west of this city, Saturday.

The men were threshing oats, and Starkey was regulating the steam and was making an attempt to tighten a bolt on a safety valve when the bolt gave away, striking him directly above the right eye, inflicting a severe gash. The steam escaping from the valve struck him almost directly in the face, scalding him severely. When the bolt let go, the terrific report frightened one of the teams, which immediately ran away. The horses were caught, however, before serious damage was done. Very fortunately there were no other teams about the thresher.

When struck in the head Starkey was knocked down and for a time it was feared that he could not recover before aid was brought. After repeated efforts, Dr. J. W. Jolly, of Morral, was summoned and gave the man surgical attention. Aside from the gash, two and a half inches in length, over the right eye, Starkey was found to have been badly scalded about the eyes, and it was feared that he may lose his sight.

Monday, Dr. Jolly stated that he was improving and it is believed that no serious results will follow.

Bibler—Zelma Fey, loving daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bibler was born September 11, 1908, and departed this life August 2, 1910, after an illness of about one week. She leaves to mourn her loss, her father, mother and one sister and many other relatives. Little Zelma was spared to her home and family only one year, eleven months and twenty-one days, but had won a place in every heart that knew her. She was the pride and joy of her home. Rev. J. H. Bagwill, the pastor, preached the funeral sermon at the Grand Prairie Free Baptist church. He used the text found in I Corinthians 3 21-22, and very beautifully showed that when God made His will to men, that little Zelma was also included. He declared she had gone to enjoy her inheritance in Christ, and that God had made heaven, a place where we shall meet again. He spoke of the immortality, rationality and the inheritance of the soul. The service was largely attended, and all were truly present to weep with those who weep.

TO MAKE BEAUTY SPOT OF THE OLD CEMETERY

Is the Plan Suggested by Major S N Titus,

TO THE MEMBERS OF CITY COUNCIL

The Major Suggests the Removal of the Bodies and the Turning Over of the Cemetery to the City for Use as a Park or Playground—Ground Should Be Kept Up

A movement has been set on foot to place the old cemetery on Quarry street near the Erie railroad tracks in the hands of the city and transform it into one of the city's beauty spots

At a regular meeting of the city council, Monday evening, Major S N Titus was present and spoke regarding the matter Although he had no resolution to offer Mr Titus stated that he merely wanted to bring the matter before the councilmen in order that they might consider it and arrange to take some definite action

'For years the old cemetery has been a nuisance and an eyesore to the city, said Mr Titus For thirty years there have been no burials there I think a certain time ought to be named during which all of the dead there may be removed Some of those buried there of course can not be moved a number having died of cholera When this time has elapsed and the greater number of the dead have been removed the grounds could be arranged in suitable condition and a monument should be erected there The grounds could be kept in condition and made into a sort of public park or playing grounds so that the public could get some benefit from it As it is horses and cows are allowed to trample over the graves and desecrate the place

Mr Titus said that he had no particular motive for suggesting the plan but he thought that the time had come when some action should be taken

So far as is known there is no record of a formal dedication of the grounds to the city and no one seems to own the plat The supposition is that the ground was given over to an early date as a burying ground by the founders of Marion

It is believed that there would be no objection to the city taking over the land because it has been public property for some time and there has been no complaint At this time according to Mr Titus it should be formally placed in the hands of the city and care should be taken of it either with his suggestion as to the removal of the bodies or otherwise

The matter will be given attention by the council at an early date

[Investigation will develop the fact that the graveyard in question was dedicated for burial purposes and that it is to revert to the heirs of Eber Baker when not used for that purpose —Ed Star]

MARIONITE WRITES OF CITY OF BERLIN

Is Enraptured with the Beauty of German Capital.

DESCRIPTION OF ONE OF EMPEROR'S PALACES

Speaks of the Customs of the Germans at the Opera—How They Greet Occupants of the Royal Box. Observations Which Are Full of Interest.

The following letter written in Berlin, July 24, by Mrs. John A. Schroeter to her mother, Mrs. E. Huber, of east Center street, will prove of interest to readers:

"It has been almost a week since I have been able to write you a letter, and the last one was written in such a hurry, as all of them are, at any time. You know how the time is taken up, and yet I believe you rested more than we did. John is an untiring traveler; he feels as if we were not going continually we are losing time. This is our first big stop since we left London; we came here, Tuesday morning, but I am going to persuade him to stay a day longer; there is so much to see here, and I think, as every one we have met thinks, that it is the grandest city on the continent. The buildings are so grand and numerous—on account of it being the capital. Such architecture and statuary! It is marvelous, and enough to turn us Americans envious. Only, when you consider they are all furnished by the subjects of the emperor to add to his glory, it makes us content.

"Their taxes must be fearful, but they tell you with pride that their immense parks belong to the emperor, and he has given them free use of them. They do not consider they have given it to him in a way by the immense salary they give him. In every country the kings and emperors have five and six palaces, which they occupy only several months in the year. We had evidence of that, yesterday. We went with a Cook's touring party out to Potsdam, the summer home of the emperor. There is a new palace on the grounds which is called Sans-Souci—meaning free from care—built in 1846, I think, and then the old Sans-Souci palace built by Frederick, the Great, which is a beautiful home containing fine paintings, statuary, etc. It is just kept as a sight for the American visitors.

"Well, the new palace is the most magnificent of all palace we have yet seen. It seems like a fairy tale, or a dream. It seems impossible that human beings could design such beautiful rooms. There is a beautiful little theater in it, seating 1,500 people; the ceiling and the walls are covered in designs made of gold leaf; the dining-hall is filled with grand paintings and the curve of the ceiling is like a ledge or shelf you might say, and in each corner sits life-size marble figures, and all around at intervals sit marble Cupids. The walls are covered with magnificent velour. One room is in blue and silver, the furniture and chandeliers in silver.

"The chandeliers in all the rooms are beyond description. There is one large room, round in shape, called the shell room. The walls are covered with shells of every kind in the world, made in designs of the most wonderful things you could imagine. Some panels are just covered with a plain white substance that glistens, and as the emperor adds to his collection, another one is finished; even bunches of coral are put in, and of course, the inevitable marble statues, here and there. Oh, how I should like to carry off some of the little Cupids we see.

"Well, the gardens of Sans-Souci were laid out by Frederick the Great and are beautiful. The garden covers 600 acres arranged in a number of smaller gardens, flower beds, fountains containing gold fish and everything that goes to make up a beautiful place for a king. Statuary at every turn. But I must tell you about their terrace. You come out of the Sans-Souci castle and stand on the top terrace, of which there are six, and the view down through the trees is like a picture, and it looks to be about a mile down. You go down each terrace, of about twenty-five steps. Each is planted in beautiful flower beds, and, of course, are about fifty feet or more wide. I do not know how far they extend on either side, but each terrace serves as a nursery for fruit trees, so that the emperor can have fruit the year around.

"They plant dwarf apple trees in large crocks and when the emperor comes out to visit them, they set them on the table for him to pluck the ripe fruit. They also have an orangery for his special benefit. Read Stoddard's description of the place. I read it, but you can hardly get an idea of it without seeing it. How I will enjoy his books when I get home.

"These Cook's tours are very nice, as they nearly always consist of Americans, and before the day is over you have gotten acquainted and have a jolly time. Each one exchanges ideas and you also learn a great deal and the different views of each one are quite enjoyable, also the experiences.

"We took this trip, yesterday, leaving here at 10 o'clock. The guide explains everything along the way We went to a place called Wannsee, and there took a boat across the Havel, just for variety. When we got across, our motor car was there, and we climbed in again and rode to Potsdam, where we had a fine course dinner. At our table we had a young man from Piqua, Ohio, and some ladies from Texas, and we had a very nice time. A lady and daughter from Chicago were also with us at Potsdam We visited the church, entering the tomb of Frederick, the Great. His monument is built in the shape of a pulpit of brown marble and onyx, with marble figures all around the base. The casket sits back in a recess.

"From there we drove to Sans-Souci, about a mile away. There is a mausoleum containing the tombs of the present emperor's parents. A marble altar with the figure of the Blessed Mother kneeling with the dead Christ and at either side, marble figures of the deceased children. We returned to Berlin at 6, dressed hurriedly and went to the opera called 'Tristan and Ysonde.' Of course, we couldn't understand the plot very well, but the singing was grand, and the music, by Wagner, was beautiful. The stage settings were beautiful, and acting fine, so we enjoyed it very much. It was werth going to see how they do things here.

"There is a box for royalty in the balcony, in the center. Some of the family were present, and people stand up and watch for their coming, turn right around, face that way, and between the acts everybody goes out into a large dining-room or cafe adjoining, and eats a lunch. The counters are filled with plates, each one has something tempting, and as we had no time for supper, or dinner, as it is called, we enjoyed it. Bread and cold roast beef, pork or chicken, cheese, etc. You take the plate, knife and fork, go to a table, and the waiter serves beer, wine or lemonade—it's great.

"Every one checks their hats and wraps so you have no trouble with them. These Germans can surely enjoy themselves. Mamma, you say fruit stands are scarce here. Why we see them everywhere, all through Germany and Holland. We have seen some fine cherries, in fact, we have had some good ones at the hotel. What fine milk they serve everywhere. We get fine milk here and one gets a good chance to rest while they are being served.

"We visited a fine art gallery, Friday. This afternoon, we go to some museums and walk through, the fine streets. Aren't they beautiful? We have only ridden through so far, but we want to look at them at our leisure. Berlin is surely a flower city. Little flower beds everywhere, and right in the public streets. Unter Den Linden as a street is very fine, but the linden looks rather tame compared to some of the trees we have seen through other cities. That is the only thing that has not come up to my expectation. We are going to the Tiergarden, tomorrow, and through the Reichstag building. My it is magnificent. We had a nice visit at Hamburg. Mr. Blum had his chauffeur take us out for a twenty-five-mile drive. The scenery was beautiful. We enjoyed the ride by train from Frankfort to Berlin, Thursday, from 1 p. m. to 9 In a way, it was as beautiful as the Rhine trip.

"Germany is so thickly settled, and the little red-tiled roofs of the villages make them very attractive. Weather, rainy; always uncertain. Only four or five hours of sunshine all day.

Will close with love from all. I feel I can not express myself enough when I speak of home, but it seems a long time since we saw you all—five weeks today. We are eating lunch while I am trying to finish this. We had soup, lobster, chicken, cheese and first a course of canned fish, chicken-salad, radishes, which are served as an appetizer. They are all served on a tray in separate dishes, and you take what you want. The cherries are here so good."

TO MAKE BEAUTY SPOT OF THE OLD CEMETERY

Is the Plan Suggested by Major S N Titus,

TO THE MEMBERS OF CITY COUNCIL

The Major Suggests the Removal of the Bodies and the Turning Over of the Cemetery to the City for Use as a Park or Playground—Ground Should Be Kept Up

A movement has been set on foot to place the old cemetery on Quarry street near the Erie railroad tracks in the hands of the city and to transform it into one of the city beauty spots

At a regular meeting of the city council, Monday evening, Major S N Titus was present and spoke regarding the matter. Although he had no resolution to offer Mr Titus stated that he merely wanted to bring the matter before the council man in order that they might consider it and arrange to take some definite action.

"For years the old cemetery has been a nuisance and an eyesore to the city," said Mr Titus. "For thirty years there have been no burials there. I think a certain time ought to be named during which all of the dead there may be removed. Some of those buried there of course can not be moved a number having died of cholera. When this time has elapsed and the greater number of the dead have been removed the grounds could be arranged in suitable condition and a monument should be erected there. The grounds could be kept in condition and made into a sort of public park or playing grounds so that the public could get some benefit from it. As it is horses and cows are allowed to trample over the graves and desecrate the place."

Mr Titus said that he had no particular motive for suggesting the plan but he thought that the time had come when some action should be taken.

So far as is known there is no record of a formal dedication of the grounds to the city and no one seems to own the plat. The supposition is that the ground was given over at an early date as a burying ground by the founders of Marion.

It is believed that there would be no objection to the city taking over the land because it has been public property for some time and there has been no complaint. At this time according to Mr Titus it should be formally placed in the hands of the city and care should be taken of it either with his suggestion as to the removal of the bodies or otherwise.

The matter will be given attention by the council at an early date.

[Investigation will develop the fact that the graveyard in question was dedicated for burial purposes and that it is to revert to the heirs of Eber Baker when not used for that purpose.—Ed Star.]

MARIONITE WRITES OF CITY OF BERLIN

Is Enraptured with the Beauty of German Capital

DESCRIPTION OF ONE OF EMPEROR'S PALACES

Speaks of the Customs of the Germans at the Opera—How They Greet Occupants of the Royal Box Observations Which Are Full of Interest

The following letter written in Berlin July 24 by Mrs John A Schroeter to her mother Mrs L Huber of east Center street, will prove of interest to readers.

It has been almost a week since I have been able to write you a letter and the first one was written in such a hurry as all of them are, at my time. You know how the time is taken up and yet I believe you rested more than we did. John is an untiring traveler he feels as if we were not going continually we are losing time. This is our first big stop since we left London, we came here Tuesday morning but I am going to persuade him to stay a day longer there is so much to see here and I think as every one we have met thinks that it is the grandest city on the continent. The buildings are so grand and numerous—on account of it being the capital. Such architecture and statuary! It is marvelous and enough to turn us Americans envious. Only when you consider they are all furnished by the subjects of the emperor to add to his glory it makes us content.

Their taxes must be fearful but they tell you with pride that their immense parks belong to the emperor and he has given them free use of them. They do not consider they have given it to him in a way by the immense salary they give him. In every country the kings and emperors have five and six palaces which they occupy only several months in the year. We had evidence of that yesterday. We went with a Cooks touring party out to Potsdam, the summer home of the emperor. There is a new palace on the grounds which is called Sans Souci—meaning free from care—built in 1846. I think and then the old Sans Souci palace built by Frederick the Great which is a beautiful home containing fine paintings statuary etc. It is just kept as a sight for the American visitors.

Well the new palace is the most magnificent of all palace we have yet seen. It seems like a fairy tale or a dream. It seems impossible that human beings could design such beautiful rooms. There is a beautiful little theater in it seating 1 00 people the ceiling and the walls are covered in designs made of gold leaf the dining hall is filled with grand paintings and the curve of the ceiling is like a ledge or shelf you might say and in each corner sits life size marble figures and all around at intervals sit marble Cupids. The walls are covered with magnificent velour. One room is in blue and silver the furniture and chandeliers in silver.

The chandeliers in all the rooms are beyond description. There is one large room round in shape called the shell room. The walls are covered with shells of every kind in the world made in designs of the most wonderful things you could imagine. Some panels are just covered with a plain white substance that glistens and is the emperor adds to his collection another one is finished even bunches of coral are put in and of course the inevitable marble statues here and there. Oh how I should like to carry off some of the little Cupids we see.

Well the gardens of Sans Souci were laid out by Frederick the Great and are beautiful. The garden covers 600 acres arranged in a number of smaller gardens flower beds fountains containing gold fish and everything that goes to make up a beautiful place for a king. Statuary at every turn. But I must tell you about the terrace. You come out of the Sans Souci castle and stand on the top terrace of which there are six and the view down through the trees is like a picture and it looks to be about a mile down. You go down each terrace of about twenty five steps. Each is planted in beautiful flower beds and of course are about fifty feet or more wide. I do not know how far they extend on either side but each terrace serves as a nursery for fruit trees so that the emperor can have fruit the year around.

They plant dwarf apple trees in large crocks and when the emperor comes out to visit them fancy set them on the table for him to pluck the ripe fruit. They also have an orangery for his special benefit. Read Stoddards description of the place I read it but you can hardly get an idea of it without seeing it. How I will enjoy his books when I get home.

These Cooks tours are very nice as they nearly always consist of Americans and before the day is over you have gotten acquainted and have a jolly time. Each one exchanges ideas and you also learn a great deal and the different views of each one are quite enjoyable also the experiences.

We took this trip yesterday arriving here at 10 o'clock. The guide explains everything along the way. We went to a place called Wann and there took a boat across the Havel just for variety. When we got across our motor car was there and we climbed in again and rode to Potsdam where we had a fine course dinner. At our table we had a young man from Piqua, Ohio and some ladies from Texas and we had a very nice time. A lady and daughter from Chicago were also with us at Potsdam. We visited the church entering the tomb of Frederick the Great. His monument is built in the shape of a pulpit of brown marble and envy with marble figures all around the base. The casket sits back in a recess.

From there we drove to Sans Souci about a mile away. Here is a mausoleum containing the tombs of the present emperors parents. A marble altar with the figure of the Blessed Mother kneeling with the dead Christ and at either side marble figures of the deceased children. We returned to Berlin at 6 dressed hurriedly and went to the opera called Tristan und Ysonde. Of course we couldn't understand the plot very well but the singing was grand and the music by Wagner was beautiful. The stage settings were beautiful and acting fine so we enjoyed it very much. It was worth going to see how they do things here.

There is a box for royalty in the balcony in the center. Some of the family were present, and people stand up and watch for them coming, turn right around, face that way and between the acts everybody goes out into a large dining room or cafe adjoining, and eats a lunch. The counters are filled with plates each one has something tempting, and as we had no time for supper or dinner as it is called, we enjoyed it. Bread and cold roast beef pork or chicken cheese, etc. You take the plate knife and fork go to a table and the waiter serves beer wine or lemonade—it's great.

Every one checks their hats and wraps so you have no trouble with them. These Germans can surely enjoy themselves. Mamma you say fruit stands are scarce here. Why we see them everywhere all through Germany and Holland. We have seen some fine cherries in fact, we have had some good ones at the hotel. What fine milk they serve everywhere. We get fine milk here and one gets a good chance to test while they it being served.

We visited a fine art gallery Friday. This afternoon we go to some museums and walk through the fine streets. Aren't they beautiful? We have only ridden through so far, but we want to look at them at our leisure. Berlin is surely a flower city. Little flower beds everywhere, and right in the public streets. Unter Den Linden is a street is very fine but the linden looks rather tame compared to some of the trees we have seen through other cities. That is the only thing that has not come up to my expectation. We are going to the Tiergarten tomorrow, and through the Reichstag building. My it is magnificent. We had a nice visit at Hamburg. Mr Blum had his chauffeur take us out for a twenty five mile drive. The scenery was beautiful. We enjoyed the ride by train from Frankfort to Berlin Thursday from 1 p m to 9. In a way it was as beautiful as the Rhine trip.

Germany is so thickly settled and the little red tiled roofs of the villages make them very attractive. Weather rainy always under rain. Only four or five hours of sunshine all day.

Will close with love from all. I feel I can not express myself enough when I speak of home but it seems a long time since we saw you all—five weeks today. We are eating lunch while I am trying to finish this. We had soup lobster chicken cheese and first a course of canned fish chicken salad radishes which are served as an appetizer. They are all served on a tray in separate dishes and you take what you want. The cherries are here so good.

Before the banquet, a class of seven candidates was initiated and arrangements were made to initiate a large class in two weeks. The local council now has a membership of over 100, and it is constanly growing. It is a fraternal insurance order.

At 10:30 o'clock the members went to Hotel Marion, where a fine spread of several courses was served. It was 1 o'clock next morning when the banqueters departed for their homes. There was no toastmaster, and therefore no speech-making. Every one partook heartily of the good things set before him and entered into a lively conversation with his neighbor.

A number of the Bucyrus members of the union were in attendance.

The committee on arrangements was composed of Lester Postle, W. A. Chapman, Schiller Fogleson and D. L. Stouffer.

Kosciusko Lodge, No. 58, I. O. O. F., held a largely-attended meeting, Monday evening, and conferred the second degree on two candidates. Aside from the routine business, the third degree staff arranged for a drill practice and social for Thursday evening.

The third degree will be given a class at the meeting next Monday evening.

A largely-attended meeting of Canby Temple, No. 152, Pythian Sisters, was held Monday evening, and the routine business was transacted. Following the business session, Mrs. Otto Eibling was hostess at a social session and luncheon.

The next meeting of the lodge will be held in two weeks.

Thirty-seven candidates were elected to membership and seven were initiated at a regular meeting of Marion Legion, No. 1470, National Protective legion, Monday night, after which an enjoyable social session was held.

Arrangements were made to hold a special session in three weeks. The next regular meeting will be held in two weeks.

Amalgaline for Joints.

Amalgaline, designed for making joints in plumbing and other lead work, is a very thin ribbon of easily fusible metal that, having been treated with a composition to prevent oxidation, is placed between the surfaces to be jointed, and on the application of heat melts and causes the other metals to amalgamate at a temperature below their normal melting point. The process is adapted for joining brass and copper parts to lead pipe, uniting pieces of lead pipe, and many other purposes.

WILL THE ORIENT TEACH CHRISTENDOM

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for August 14 Is, "The Laborers in the Vineyard." Matthew 20:1-16.

Here is a story in which Jesus seems at first sight to have sanctioned what was not "a square deal," and a story which in its application throws light on present-day world-wide religious conditions. It is the perplexing parable of the laborers in the vineyard, some of whom bore the burden and heat of the day for the very same wage that was given to the men who began work near the close of the day. Perhaps it does credit to our inate sense of justice that most readers of the parable find themselves in sympathy with the complaints of the laborers who had toiled all day, and yet received no greater payment than the late-comers. The lesson is one that will give many a teacher of older pupils an uncomfortable half-hour, owing to the sensitiveness of our day to all social questions.

A little careful thought removes most of the difficulties. Let us find out what the parable really means, and why it was related by Jesus.

Equal Wage for Equal Labor.

For equal labor there should be equal recompense; a woman who does the same work in an office as a man is entitled to the same salary. A black man should get the same wages as a white for the same work. A poor boy should not be discriminated against in favor of an official's son, when both are at the same sort of task. In a broad, general sense these propositions are unassailable, and almost axiomatic.

Deeper than these though, is the question whether the denarius or penny—equal to sixteen or seventeen cents today, with a purchasing power many times greater—was a just stipend for a full day's labor. That is the real test of this parable. When it is granted that the full market price had been paid for the hire of the men who went earliest to work, we find the way open to other considerations.

So long as he is just with all, an employer may be lavish with some. There are other factors than time in employment, else the foreman might get less than the office boy. The quality of the work, and the worker's need and spirit, may so appeal to an employer as to cause him to pay one more than another. The labor union movement among newspaper reporters has never made much headway because of the impossibility of establishing a uniform wage among men whose work varies as greatly in quality.

The Employer's Fredom.

Multitudes of persons will be studying this lesson in the light of the labor question. Such should bear in mind the principal of the justice of the denarius a day paid to the men first hired. Society has a right to insist upon a living wage for all workers. After that the employer has rights which may not be invaded. It is his private affair if he wants to buy a red vest or a green automobile, or give a full day's wages to a man who comes to him with a hard-luck story just before the whistle blows. There are personal rights of the individual which the state may not abrogate. If I choose to fee one sleeping car porter a hundred per cent. above what I fee another, for reasons which I consider satisfactory to myself, who is to hinder or criticise me?

The parable may not be pressed too far any way. It simply means that God pays for waiting as well as for working. Readiness counts as service with Him. He takes opportunity into consideration. The men who were hired at the eleventh hour wanted work so badly that they sought it up to the close of the day. Look at the situation through the eyes of the man out of a job, and see how its aspect changes. The employer generously recognized the late-comers' need as well as rewarded their actual labor. Perhaps it was the eleventh-hour laborers who actually saved the season's crop. We do not object nowadays to paying the specialist who comes to the sick room for half an hour at the crisis, tenfold what the family doctor receives for weeks of steady attendance.

When the Last Are First.

There is a striking passage at the close of the eleventh chapter of Hebrews, following the narrative of the heroes of faith and their testings. "And these all received not the promise, God having provided some better things concerning us, that apart from us they should not be made perfect." There you have a principle that runs through life and illuminates this parable. The last is necessary to the fulfillment of the first. The work of the all-day toiler is completed by the eleventh-hour laborer. "Others have labored and we have entered into their rest." The work of the world is so irretrievably interwoven that only the Omniscient can rightly apportion rewards. Nobody does a complete task like the old cathedrals whose building consumed generations, each of us carries on toward completion another's task. It needs a mother, a teacher, a lover, an enemy and an event to produce a great writer.

When we consider the vineyard as a whole—which is always God's concern—we shall not be perplexed about seeming iniquities. The harvest is the thing. In the parable the householder's zeal for workers and the idle laborer's zeal for work, combined for the completion of the day's task. So it is in the kingdom. God is going to have His work done. Often He has been disappointed in the workers first chosen and has had to supplement them with others. Thus it comes to pass that the first are sometimes last, and the last first.

Enter the Heathen Nations.

A shock was given to the insular self-complacency of Christian denominations and countries at the recent wonderful World's Missionary conference in Edinburg by the revelation, which many received for the first time, that the once-despised "heathen" nations are to have perhaps the greatest part in interpreting Christianity to mankind, and in bringing in the day of the Lord's complete triumph. Well might the complaint of the all-day laborers be echoed, "Are these late-comers to have equal reward with us?" After those ten days on Edinburg's historic hill there was not a person present who did not realize that apart from these newcomers the word and work of God is not to be made perfect.

High Church Anglicans were startled to find what a small figure they cut in a really ecumenical council; noisy Free Churchmen were abashed by the unquestioned devotion and godliness of the "High Churchmen". Both were amazed to find that outside the British isles, are mighty hosts of Christians indifferent to their disagreements and able to teach them much about work for the kingdom. All—British, Americans, Continentals—were chastened by the revelation that God's new legions, now swinging into line in the East and in Africa, have His favor to a degree that provokes heart-searching. As an American said to a Scotch audience, "You have unconsciously been assuming that Jehovah is an English-speaking God—with a Scotch accent."

The Great World Vineyard.

In God's great vineyard of the world he means that His work is to be done. He is not content with the cultivation of a little patch of it, jeasously fenced off and placarded by men. He wants the whole crop harvested. His planting must come to fruition and be gathered. If His first-chosen laborers are unequal to the task He will get others. God's will must be done; if not through, then in spite of His friends. Somewhere in the market-place He will find workers; and those last hired will not fall of full reward.

Consider the marked evidences of divine favor that have been bestowed upon the native churches of the Orient. Revivals, such as devout souls in Britain and America have prayed for in vain, have been poured out upon Korea and India and Manchuria. Wonderful preachers of the word, who are able to lead thousands to a decision for Christ, and hundreds to a dedication of themselves to the Christian ministry, have been raised up from amid those who a few years ago were heathen. Christian communities, like that in Korea, with its watchword, "A million converts this year," have undertaken the work of witness-bearing with a heartiness and a spirit of sacrifice that shame the older churches. The New Testament marks of discipleship are to be found most prominently on the mision field. Thus we read anew a present meaning into the old parable that "the first shall be last, and the last first."

MASTER OR MASTERED?

By William T. Ellis.

Terse Comments Upon the Christian Endeavor Topic for August 14, "Do You Let God Plan Your Life?" Jeremiah 10:23; Proverbs 3:1-10.

The disciples who get closest to Christ, and who live most constantly in the sunshine of His near presence, are those who have passed through the valley of self-surrender and who there have learned the secret of a submissive spirit. Jesus delights to walk with those whose hearts declare, "Not my will, but Thine, be done."

We must sit at the feet of the Master before we can walk by His side.

* * *

Crown Christ king. That is the secret of victory. No life has two thrones. If Christ sits on the throne, then self has lost his power. If Christ be obeyed, the passions and desires of the old nature will clamor in vain for a hearing. Only that is a mastered life over which Christ is Master.

* * *

If we are surrendered to Christ we shall not surrender to self.

* * *

The great indictment that Christ brought against the things for which men were giving their lives was that they were not worth while. They were not in themselves bad, but they were of minor importance; they did not last. His summons to men was a summons to rise to a loftier conception of life. He bade them lift up their aims and quit the mere existence which took no count of highest things. Jesus implanted in men's breasts a divine and eternal ambition. "Seek first the kingdom," cried He; these lesser and incidental things will then fall into their proper place and be added unto you. They of themselves, as life aims, are not worth a thought.

* * *

For all that men have trusted Christ in the past, we may trust Him today. Every triumphant Christian, every martyr, every hero of the faith, and the church of God itself, are all witnesses to the truth that our Lord is to be unwaveringly trusted for everything needful.

* * *

The ghost of tomorrow haunts many persons. They fear the future. They worry about what the days may bring forth. And by this worrying and fretting care they incapacitate themselves for bravely meeting tomorrow when it does come. The Master wants us to trust Him for the tomorrows. They are His, stored up by His hand, and therefore laden with nothing but good for His disciples. So let trust take the place of trembling and faith the place of fear.

* * *

The secret of faith, the secret of endurance, the secret of success in the Christian life, is "seeing Him who is invisible." We get all our faith by keeping the eye firmly fixed upon Him in whom faith has its beginning and end. Would you trust more? Then look at Jesus more.

* * *

All of a Christian's power is imparted power.

* * *

A child goes driving with his father and pleads to hold the reins. He is permitted to do so—above where the father's hand grips them. The real guidance and control is with the father. As little children we chafe and fret to be given free rein over the world within and without; but we are safe only when we let the hand of Omnipotence control.

* * *

The power of the father is the protection and peace of the child.

* * *

An obedient child delights in the presence of its parent, a disobedient child dreads it. What we think of the omnipresene of God is largely determined by what our moral attitude toward Him has been.

We should be proud to have a house planned by a famous architect; but our life may be planned by the most glorious of all architects.

AN INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE

WHEN the representatives of between thirty-five and forty nations meet in Washington D C next fall to the sixth International Congress of Esperanto there will be no babel of tongues and confusion of speech for the use of their languages and a common language in which they can converse. Reports of the deliberations of which will be the first international congress of the kind ever held.

Advocates of Neutralism point to the fact that the law of Babel as told in the Book of Genesis the whole earth was of one language and of one speech. But the Lord put His wrath confounded their language that they may not understand each other's speech. From the earliest ages it seems to have been the dream of the world's greatest minds to create a common medium of communication.

Esperanto is not for the purpose of supplanting the mother tongues of the great nations of the world however but simply as an auxiliary language an easy means of communication between them when desired.

From August 11 to 20 delegations of Esperantists from nearly every country on the globe will convene in the capital city of the nation to transact the business necessary to the dissemination of their plan. Approximately 1 00 delegates are expected and a program elaborate for a convention of such importance has been prepared. Distinguished linguists of this and other countries will be present. Naturally the entire proceedings of the congress will be carried on in Esperanto.

The word Esperanto is not merely a name chosen at random for the new tongue instead it means the one who hopes. And thereby hangs a tale. Over a hundred years ago in the town of Bialystok lived a Polish lad Ludwig Zamenhof by name. He was a quiet modest studious boy who was much impressed by the fact that within his own home town no less than four languages were in current use in different parts of the city—Russian German Polish and Yiddish. The frequent wars and misunderstandings could only be traced to this confusion of tongues so it was he saw the need of a common language for his own townsmen. So he began to formulate one and this task he has been at for nine years or more.

Anton he had a group of five or six companions of his own age speaking a sort of Esperanto. But their jargon was strange that others heard did not call upon their heads. Presently find ways and means dropped off one by one returning to the comfortable speech of their ancestors and he was left alone. But he did not give up. Until he had framed his dreams all over again and welcomed new converts one of them a rosy haired some of the Esperantists for over 20 years at his discouraging task.

Dr Zamenhof's the same little boy simply grown up to maturity and the accomplishment his schemes attainments will be present at the congress in Washington next fall. Indeed the whole English speaking world is agog over the coming of the famous originator of Esperanto. And such is it has been hailed by some that Dr Zamenhof should be awarded the Nobel peace prize.

The difficulties to be overcome in making this translation are few to an Esperantist only an idea of the labor involved can be partially conveyed to the uninitiated. Like the word strife for example—it means exactly what it does not mean despite the fact that that statement is a second cousin to an Irish bull. To strike means to hit to meet in baseball the word means to miss the ball. And again the word differently means but a single letter if the umpire calls three balls how can that be true when there is only but one? Of course these are some almost absurd to the American but fun but to find equivalents for them in Esperanto (or in any foreign tongue for that matter) is nearly a hopeless task.

Next Sunday morning services will be held in Episcopal and Roman Catholic churches in Esperanto—a first as never to serve in the latter faith as not implicitly rendered in Latin. On the following day the author of Esperanto will make the opening address before the congress will settle down to the transaction of business. The Esperanto Academy whose duty it is to preserve the language in its virgin purity and which the French Academy guards the English language will meet as will also the International Council and the International Scientific Association of Esperantists.

On Wednesday evening ten hundred dollars will be awarded the winners of prizes in a literary contest each having presented a thesis on a certain assigned subject written in Esperanto. In between the business sessions the delegates will enjoy the many opportunities to sightsee offered by the capital including a trip to Mount Vernon the home of Washington and in contrast the beautiful Great Falls of the historic Potomac River.

On Friday will be held the grand banquet and ball in the ballroom of one of the leading hotels. This promises to be quite the most attractive social feature of the convention. The dance cards will be conceived in Esperanto and the delegates will appear in their national costume. Among the most prominent Americans actively interested in the success of the Congress may be mentioned John Hays Hammond of the Bureau of American Republics. The congress will adjourn on Saturday August 20 to meet next year in Antwerp Belgium.

The first International Esperanto Congress convened in Boulogne sur mer France in 1905 the second in Geneva Switzerland in 1906 the third in Cambridge England in the following year the fourth Dresden was held in Dresden Germany under the patronage of the King of Saxony in 1908 and the fifth in Barcelona Spain last year under the honorary presidency of King Alfonso XIII of Spain.

At this fifth congress a number of interesting demonstrations of the practicability of the language were given among which may be mentioned the Red Cross Demonstration. A corps of Spanish Red Cross nurses and physicians gave a drill in bandaging and treating the wounded on a battlefield. Esperantists from every nation represented at the congress took the part of wounded soldiers. Without previous rehearsal the respective parts the Red Cross nurses rushed upon the supposed battlefield ascertained from each sufferer the nature of his wound and rendered first aid. The whole performance was carried out in Esperanto.

Another interesting feature was the reading of a paper by Dr Javal of the French Academy of Medicine on the subject of Esperanto in Medicine. Dr Javal is a member of the Academy of Medicine and his paper was read by Dr Boirac rector of the University of Dijon France.

Dr Javal's paper was a plea for the universal adoption of Esperanto as a medium of communication between physicians of all countries. He showed how the language could be used to advantage in the study of medicine and surgery and how it would be of great benefit to the medical profession in general.

Dr Javal's paper was received with great enthusiasm by the congress and a resolution was passed unanimously recommending the adoption of Esperanto by the medical profession

EAST CENTER STREET IS GREATLY WROUGHT

A Meat Market Being Erected in That Thoroughfare,

ON THE FORMER TURNEY HOMESTEAD

Owner of the Premises Claims That He Is Building the Shop in Good Faith but the Residents Out That Way Can't Be Persuaded That Such Is the Case

A one story slabbed roof building about fifteen by thirty with concrete foundation being erected on East Center street is causing quite a commotion out that way It is being built flush with the street at the east line of the old Weaver Turney property immediately to the west of the property of Mrs H M Burhart for William Merkle who proposes to utilize it as a meat shop

A meat shop on aristocratic East Center Holy horrors

Until recently the property was owned by Charles Hostetter the real estate man and D H Lincoln the banker Mr Hostetter could not be located but Mr Lincoln stated to the Star that he had sold his interest in the Turney property to Hetter who in turn sold to Merkle

Merkle claims that he building the shop in good faith that it will save him the $ a month he has been paying for store room and that he will make it home in the old Turney homestead

Out on East Center however the residents learn to be view the matter in a different light and have entered a protest to the building of the shop in question Their chief objection is that the shop will be an eyesore to the neighborhood and that it will depreciate the value of property in the vicinity

Another objection is that the building will obstruct the view of those living on the south side of East Center street Before the entire Turney property was sold Mr Turney put a fence around his home which would obstruct the view An effort was put forward to have the entire Turney property purchased by the residents but this she declined to part

Liken Gaynor Shooting to the Pasha Murder

GUILD HALL SPEECH WELL REMEMBERED

British Press Praises the New York Mayor

The Standard Says The Completion of Gaynor's Career Is a Matter of International Importance and to His Own Country His Death Would Be a Calamity—Many Columns Devoted to the Mayor

London Aug 11 — The attempt on the life of Mayor Gaynor has given a number of the English papers a long dreamed of chance to unleash bitter criticism against Colonel Roosevelt and his Guild hall speech and to link the attempted assassination of the mayor to the killing of Premier Boutros Pasha of Egypt whose murder the colonel in his Guild hall speech authorized as a basis for questioning the capacity of England and Egypt

The assassination of Boutros Pasha paralleled by the attempted assassination of Mayor Gaynor the Evening Standard says

Will Roosevelt dare to propose the disfranchisement of New York City or the forcible dissolution of Tammany hall He should do so to be consistent with his recommendations regarding English rule in Egypt We hope the crime will bring home to Roosevelt the folly of his excursions into others affairs

According to the London Globe the Gaynor case is the usual result of the breaking up of an extreme bureaucratic government

Praise Gaynor

The Globe warns England to heed the lesson against permitting official dom to secure such a grip on the public as is unbreakable without recourse to violence

Remembering Roosevelt's Guild hall speech the Westminster Gazette says we hesitate to think what he will say regarding New York's capacity for self government

Without exception the British press speaks in the highest praise of Gaynor and expresses the greatest sympathy and gratitude for him

The Standard says The completion of Gaynor's career is a matter of international importance To his own country his death would be a calamity His achievements should make it possible for him to become a candidate for the presidency and we sincerely trust that he will be spared for the battle

Columns of biographical matter and character study are printed about the mayor

Sichort was tarred and feathered with feathers stuck to a pole at the station where he remained until the arrival of the morning express train He was terribly bitten by mosquitoes while helpless against the pest

CHIEF ENGINEER HOLDS UP BILLS

Marker Wars with State Board of Public Works

BOARD OVERRIDES CHIEF'S OBJECTIONS

An Open Break Occurs at the Meeting

Chief Engineer Marker Is Going To Investigate Matters Connected with Management of Ohio's Canal System—Former Trusted Employe Lays Certain Charges with Marker Regarding the Work Done

Columbus O Aug 10 It developed today that there is a row on between the state board of public works and James R Marker he new Democratic chief engineer of public works caused by his refusal of Marker to approve bills presented by appointees of the board Marker was appointed by Governor Harmon

The board is Republican and consists of George W Watkins of Portsmouth William Kurtzer of Defiance and Barney Baldwin of Ashtabula

At a meeting of the state board late Tuesday Chief Engineer Marker held up bills amounting to about $ 00 that were turned in by Malcolm A Kershner of Columbus recently appointed superintendent of the Southern division of the Ohio canal Kershner is a powerful factor in local Republican politics

Marker held up Kershners bill on the grounds that Kershner had not only allowed his own salary for July amounting to $111 but had also allowed the same amount to Harry Morris his predecessor as superintendent

Marker further objected to the fact that C W Watkins employe of George W Watkins one of the two jobs in the department one as members of the board is holding canal foreman and the other as collector As foreman he draws $65 a month and as collector $ 5 a month

Override Objection

The board overrode Markers objection to paying former Superintendent Morris $111 for July by going back and amending the minutes of the July meeting of the board so as to provide that Morris should be paid 11 months thirty while Kershner was learning the ropes of his new position

The meeting of the board was public and in the presence of a crowd of seventy five or more persons there was an open break between George W Watkins and Chief Engineer Marker Watkins favored seating the attorney general for an opinion as to whether Marker had a right to withhold approval of bills presented by the boards appointees Marker replied that he did not intend to be a figurehead and allow bills to pass that he considered unjust

That Chief Engineer Marker is going to enter into a thorough investigation of many matters connected with the management of Ohios canal system is indicated in a demand he made on Thomas Wickenden a field engineer appointed by the board for a full accounting of work done on the Miami and Erie canal between Dayton and Cincinnati A former trusted employe of the department has laid before Marker charges that one of the dredging crews on the Dayton Cincinnati division took four months to do work that could be done in one week

During the controversy between Marker and Watkins it was also brought out that Watkins brother is also in the department drawing $100 a month as a foreman of carpenters

MUCH COMPOUND LARD SOLD OVER THE STATE

Complaint Reaches the State Dairy and Food Commissioner

Columbus O Aug 10 Complaints have reached the state dairy and food commissioner that much compound lard is being sold over the state which is not labeled to show the percentage of cotton seed oil and stearine in it The federal law does not give the percentage to be shown but the Ohio law does

In that part the Ohio law is better Food Commissioner Dunlap finds that under the law the compound lard must contain ninety five per cent of the ingredients and the sweetening must be just so it was found that these adulterations were not made to law makes the deal clear how much of these materials are Dairy instructed inspectors to get ready to make many arrests in this

SOLDIER BOYS TO GET THEIR MONEY

State Succeeds in Getting Hold of $60,000 Yesterday

Columbus O Aug 11 The state of Ohio succeeded in getting hold of $ 0 00 and practically every cent of it will be paid out within the next few days to the soldier boys who did duty in Columbus

At one time it look d as if the million would have to be sent to Washington by the Third Ohio next Tuesday before getting it The emergency board voted the necessary $60 000, but under the peculiarities of the statute there was no way of getting the money except to borrow it The state treasurer could not a fuss over the borrowing proposition that none of the state officials were willing to take a hand in Auditor Farrington however solved the difficulty by getting the money from the New First National bank the state's active depository without paying any interest

Treasurer Creamer merely deposited $60 000 of state funds in the bank and ten minutes later the state borrowed it at the same interest rate that the bank would pay the state The bank got nothing for its trouble except a few kind words from the auditor

JERSEY JUSTICE WORKS RAPIDLY

State Will Avenge Shooting of Gaynor

PROSECUTOR GARVEN STARTS HIS INQUIRY

Grand Jury Will Have Evidence Tomorrow.

Unless Mayor Gaynor Dies There Is Every Evidence That Would-Be Assassin Will Be in Trenton Prison Before the Mayor Leaves the Hospital—Only Change in Mayor's Condition Will Prevent It

New York Aug 10 — Jersey justice will avenge the shooting of Mayor William J Gaynor

The proverbial rapidity with which criminals are punished in New Jersey will be observed in the case of James J Gallagher There will be no conflict of authority New York has no jurisdiction, the attorneys agree today and the prosecution will be in the hands of the authorities of Hudson county New Jersey

Prosecutor Pierre Garven began his inquiry into the case today He interviewed a number of the witnesses to the attempted murder Tomorrow he will present the evidence to the sitting grand jury If he plans go through an indictment will be promptly returned and the accused trial will begin next week All that can interfere will be a change for the worse in the condition of the mayor Should the present improvement continue there is every reason to believe that Gallagher will be in the Trenton prison before Mayor Gaynor is discharged from the Hoboken hospital

The Penalty

"I expect that the grand jury will indict Gallagher on a charge of assault with intent to kill" declared Garven, today The penalty for this crime in our state is a maximum of twenty years Under our commutation rules this means practically a sentence of twelve years

Of course a change in the condition of the mayor might prevent rapid action but the doctors assure me today that he is doing nicely I anticipate no trouble in indicting and convicting Gallagher There are not only plenty of witnesses but I have the mans own signed confession I would like to have the mayors testimony but it really will not be needed Acting District Attorney Moss of New York said today that here appeared to be no doubt of New Jerseys jurisdiction in the case

The boundary commission report fixing the jurisdiction of the states in its report said

The state of New Jersey shall have exclusive jurisdiction of and over all vessels aground on the said shore or fastened to any such wharf or dock except that the said vessels shall be subject to the quarantine or health laws and laws in relation to passengers of the state of New York which now exist or which may hereafter be passed

Later he purchased a farm of seventy acres in Marion township and sold it in 1882. He then bought a farm of 151 acres in Grand Prairie township, where he lived until about four years ago, when he moved to Marion on account of his failing health.

Mr. Lust had always followed general farming, but was particularly interested in raising fine hogs His son, Albert C. Lust, lives on the old homestead place, which now contains over 200 acres.

MOTHER TO RETAIN HER LITTLE ONES

Court Gives Custody of Children to Mrs. Deal.

FINDS HER MOTHER HAS FINGER IN PIE

Grandmother of the Children Is Behind the Effort of the Humane Society To Secure the Custody and Control of the Children—Husband and Wife Reconciled.

An attempt by the Marion County Humane society to remove from the custody of the mother two small children, a girl and a boy, aged twelve and five years, Wednesday afternoon, in the probate court, resulted in a victory for the mother in her battle to keep her little ones and a reconciliation between her and her estranged husband, Raymond Deal, a drayman.

The children were Hazel Lavauwa, a daughter of Mrs. Edna Deal by a former marriage, and Arthur Deal, a son by her second marriage.

The evidence developed that the Humane society was acting for Mrs Alice Cole, mother of Mrs. Deal, and that the grandmother was in reality seeking the custody of the two children.

Mrs. Cole is the mother of four daughters, one of whom is Mrs. Deal, and each one of the daughters is by a different marriage. The testimony further showed that the four daughters had not been reared to womanhood by their mother, but had been found homes elsewhere in their childhood.

Upon learning these facts and because no damaging evidence of an immoral character had been adduced against Mrs. Deal, the mother of the two children involved in the action, Judge Spencer refused to take them away from their mother.

Mrs. Deal's neighbors testified that she was hard-working, and often did four and five washings a day to provide for her children.

Raymond Deal, the husband, was placed on the stand, and testified that he had been jealous of a certain man, with whom he had seen his wife buggy-riding, but admitted that he had been hasty in judging her of wrong-doing.

When Mrs. Deal testified she said that the man mentioned by her husband was a neighbor, and that she had simply ridden with him to her home on Ola street.

Mr. and Mrs. Deal were reconciled, and agreed to live together with the two children.

Judge Spencer informed the mother that he would leave the children in her custody, but that he would take them away if he ever learned of any misconduct on her part. He advised her never to go buggy-riding again with any man not her husband or some near relative.

With tear-stained face the woman looked up to the court and faithfully promised that she would be a true wife and a true mother. Then husband and wife and children left the court-room happy.

POPE'S EFFORTS STAY HAND OF CATHOLICS AND THREATENED "UPRISING" IS AVERTED

San Sebastian, Spain, Aug. 10.—Despite the threats of the Carlists the troops have been able to maintain order here, and, while many arrests have been made, the worst of the trouble is believed to be over. Catholics are extremely indignant at the government's repressive measures, as they claim that the demonstrations planned were not Carlist uprisings, but were arranged to show the disapproval of the people to the orders of Premier Canalejas, who so far has had the earnest support of King Alfonso General Weyler's assignment to command of the troops in this district is taken to mean that the government does not intend to allow the uprising to succeed. The Catholics here believe that the efforts of the pope to settle the entire matter will prove successful and that the end of the controversy is in sight.

THE PRESBYTERIAN MISSION WORKERS

Hold Meetings at the Church Parlors, Wednesday.

TWO INTERESTING PROGRAMS RENDERED

Foreign Society Has a Book Review. The Home Society Program Features Talk by Miss May, Who Describes Work of Former Marionite on Pacific Coast.

The regular monthly meetings of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the First Presbyterian church were held in the church parlors, Wednesday afternoon. There was a fair attendance.

After devotional exercises, the ladies of the Foreign society took up their book review and in the absence of Mrs. C. B. Kling, Mrs. Jonas Conklin was in charge. Mrs. S. C. Bates gave a review of the Autobiography of Dr. D. H. Jessop, "Fifty-Three Years in Syria." Miss Joan Watkins gave a reading upon "The Laos of Siam." Mrs. Jonas Conklin spoke of the publications of the Presbyterian board, and Mrs. U. F. Seffner gave a short review of "The Price of Africa." Mrs. R. C. Bowdish offered prayer for the missionaries, and was followed by others, after which the program was closed, and that of the Home society was begun.

The program of the Home society was opened with a solo by Mrs. James Fies, 'What Must It Be To Be There," after which a business session was held. Mrs. R. C. Bowdish was in charge, following the transaction of the business, and Mrs. Charles Harriman gave a reading consisting of items gleaned from the talk heard at the recent general assembly. Miss Elizabeth Daily told of the work in the different fields and Miss Rose May, of Lajolla, California, told of the work of Miss Leva Granger among the Mexicans and Mormons. COURTHOUSE PICNIC HELD IN COURTHOUSE

Lincoln Park Program Abandoned by Picnickers

OWING TO INCLEMENCY OF THE WEATHER

Spread Is Enjoyed at Two Long Tables in Room of the Board of Assessors and the Youngsters Play in the Corridors, Which Are Nice and Dry—A Fine Time.

Members of the Marion city board of quadrennial land assessors and their clerks were routed out of their quarters in the basement of the courthouse, Tuesday afternoon, when it rained, and the picnic of the courthouse officials and their relatives and friends was held there instead of at Lincoln park as planned

Two long rows of loaded tables provided a place for all to eat the good things that usually go to make up a picnic spread, and nearly 100 people enjoyed it just as much as though they had gone to the park. Of course, there weren't enough forks and knives and spoons to go around—usually that is the case at real, real picnics—but who cared, because he could use his neighbor's any time his neighbor wasn't using it, whether the latter was a handsome young woman or a middle aged matron

The children romped through the corridors of the big courthouse, and never gave Lincoln park a thought, for outside it was wet and nasty and inside it was dry and inviting, and there was ample room for them to play in, too

What is known as the courthouse picnic will long be remembered as a most enjoyable affair, even if the weatherman did try his best to spoil it

The committee on arrangements was composed of Miss Eva Allen, Miss Perle Garfield, Miss Mayme Filiatrault and Miss Maud Smith

SEITZ CARRIES HIS CASE UP ON ERROR

Fined $200 and Costs in Court of Mayor Seiter.

FOR VIOLATION OF LOCAL-OPTION LAW

Largest Bill-of-Exceptions Ever Filed in Marion County—Allowed by Judge Daniel Babst—It Is in the Decker-Hughes Matter and Contains 555 Pages

John Seitz, who was fined $200 and costs by Mayor John G Seiter for alleged violation of the Rose local-option law, filed a petition-in-error in the common pleas court, Wednesday afternoon through his attorneys, Eymon & Thompson

Seitz was tried before Mayor Seiter, June 21, and judgment was not rendered until July 22. Because of the fact that judgment was not immediately rendered, according to the statutes, and because the affidavit, filed against Seitz, June 16, did not bear the mayor's official seal, it is alleged that the mayor's finding and judgment were illegal and that he was without jurisdiction

The common pleas court is asked to set aside the verdict of the lower court

The largest bill-of exceptions ever allowed in the common pleas court was granted by Judge Daniel Babst, Wednesday. It is in the suit of Mary Decker and others against David Hughes and others, and contains 555 pages. The case will be taken to the circuit court

Several months ago the plaintiffs, who are the children of the late Evan Hughes, of Prospect, by his first marriage, got judgment to set aside their father's will, in which he left property valued at $25 000 to his minor son, Evan Hughes, Jr., by a second marriage. The will was accordingly set aside, and now the defendants, David Hughes, executor of the estate of Evan Hughes, deceased, and others, will fight the case in the circuit court

George Ruhland, through Attorney L E Myers Wednesday afternoon filed a petition-in-error in the common pleas court. Ruhland was fined five dollars and costs by Mayor John G Seiter on a charge of intoxication. Ruhland pleaded not guilty to the charge, and strongly maintained that he was not drunk when Officer Jerome Hochstetter arrested him. He was arrested by Hochstetter Sunday evening July 31, and released by a writ of habeas corpus secured by his attorney the following day. After a trial before the mayor, he was found guilty and fined. His is the first case of the kind ever taken to the common pleas court on error from the mayor's court. The usual grounds of error are set up

Alleging that George W Hinklin had conveyed to his wife fifty acres of land with the intent of defrauding him out of the collection of a court judgment amounting to $167 86, Morton I Hartaman, through Attorneys Crosby & Donithen brought suit in the common pleas court to set aside the deed of conveyance, Thursday morning

In his petition, the plaintiff sets up that he filed June 11, 1903, a transcript from the court of Justice A Amerine, of Marion township, for a judgment lien in cause No 10601, in the common pleas court, wherein he as the plaintiff recovered judgment for $167 84 with eight per cent interest and costs of the action May 31 1910, a conditional revivor was made absolute for $167 86, together with $30 cost, against the defendant. It then developed that Hinklin had transferred to his wife the fifty acres of land in question with the view, it is alleged, of defrauding the plaintiff

Asa B Conley against George Roberts is the title of a suit filed in the common pleas court on appeal from the docket of Justice Charles H Conley. The plaintiff seeks judgment in the amount of $125 10 as balance due on a ditch contract. The case is appealed by the defendant, the plaintiff having obtained judgment in the Justice court

THE SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS HERE

Open Their Ten-Days Camp-Meeting Thursday Night.

SIX HUNDRED PRESENT FOR OPENING SERVICE

Elder H. H. Burkholder, of Belleville, President of the Seventh Day Adventists' Conference, Makes a Short Address—Refers, Happily, to Meeting of Years Ago.

Six hundred people attended the opening service of the sixty-sixth annual state conference of the Seventh Day Adventists of Ohio, Thursday evening, at the fairground, when Elder H. H. Burkholder, of Belleville, Richland county, president of the Ohio Seventh Day Adventists' conference, made a short address. He expressed his pleasure at again meeting in Marion, where the Adventists met three years ago, and said he was glad to see that many Marion people were sufficiently intersted in their meetings to attend the opening service of the ten days' camp-meeting.

Elder James Schultz, of Mt. Vernon, who will have charge of all the singing, led in a stirring song service, after which Rev. O. F. Boetcher of Mt. Vernon, delivered the sermon of the evening.

Rev. Mr. Boetcher, who is a Bible teacher in the Columbia Union college, at Mt. Vernon, preached an old-fashioned sermon on "Right Living." He declared that the Lord is picking out men in the nations of the world to lead people and nations into paths of right. He urged his hearers to live right all the time. The Lord thinks more of the person who does the one right thing, he said, than the person who does ninety-nine things right and then fails to do the one right thing right.

The minister made an eloquent appeal for people to search their lives to discover whether the motives there were always to do what is right. Right motives, he said, mean righteousness.

This morning the gong sounded at 5 o'clock for rising. Half an hour later the campers, men, women and children, went to worship. The grown-ups held their service in the big tent and the children assembled at what is known as the youths' tent.

At 7 o'clock breakfast was served, after which chapel services were held in the various camp districts. Every five or six of the many tents erected comprise a district, and here the adult residents of the tented district gather for further morning worship. The children worshiped in their own tent.

At 10 o'clock, this morning, another religious service was held in the big tent and at 11:30 o'clock the holiness conference took place. Dinner was served at 12:30 o'clock.

The same routine of rising at 5 o'clock in the morning and the various services of worship will be carried out during the ten days the camp-meeting will be held.

This afternoon the program of services and preaching was omitted in order to give the seventy-five workers plenty of time to complete the erection of all the tents and to perform other necessary labor that must be done in connection with a big camp-meeting such as the Seventh Day Adventists hold.

Preaching services will be held in the large tent, tonight, a cordial invitation being extended to Marion people to attend.

Don't Prescribe.

We should be chary of pressing remedies upon the sick other than those which their doctors have already prescribed. It is never a safe thing to tamper with drugs, and though certain medicines may be curative for ourselves and certain treatments prove our salvation they may be hurtful to others. Cases have been known of persons becoming seriously ill through taking a medicine prescribed for them by other invalids in whose case the remedy was a suitable one.

Time to Wake Up.

Many of the business men of every town are losing money every week by not having their wares and goods advertised in their home papers. In fact they are losing golden opportunities of reaping big returns from small investments in printer's ink. Wake up, Mr. Business Man, and be up to date. Let the public know what you are doing, and what you have to sell.

Hot Water for Tears.

Nothing will better draw out inflammation caused by tears than to soak the eyes in hot water. To do this the cloth should be wet and laid over the lids, renewing as soon as the heat subsides. Ten minutes of this makes the whole face red, and as the blood recedes the lids bleach with the rest of the skin.

H. S. Grove, a merchant of Catawissa, Pa., has concluded a fast of twenty-one days, undertaken because he had indigestion, and wished to cure himself. He resumed eating, although he said he was not in the least hungry. This was the fourth fast. He first fasted thirteen day, then nine days, and the third time fourteen days.

MAYOR GAYNOR SAVED BY BENJAMIN C. MARSH FROM FALLING TO STEAMER'S DECK AFTER BEING SHOT BY GALLAGHER

New York, Aug. 11.—When Mayor Gaynor was shot an official photographer of the American Press association was within a few feet preparing to take a last picture of the executive as he sailed for Europe on a month's vacation. At the time the revolver report rang out the camera was leveled toward the scene, and the lower picture shows the wounded mayor sinking into the arms of Secretary Benjamin C. Marsh, of the committee on congestion of population in New York City. The upper picture shows the crowd with Assailant James J. Gallagher just after he had been picked from the deck, where he was knocked by Street Cleaning Commissioner William Edwards, who stands just behind Gallagher. Note the blood on Mayor Gaynor's face and the look of horror on the face of the man assisting to hold him. The picture shows crowd showing Assailant Gallagher, marked by arrow pointing toward his head, from shoulder of Commissioner Edwards.

CROWDS ENTERING GATES OF OHIO'S EXPOSITION.

PAY as you enter—no tickets. That was the innovation that greeted visitors at the last Ohio State Fair. No tedious delays in securing tickets. Simply drop your coin in the turnstile, it instantly unlocked, and your entrance was recorded in triplicate. This system met the approval of all visitors and will be continued at the coming exposition to be held in Columbus Sept. 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. The exposition this year will be open both day and night, with grounds and buildings brilliantly illuminated. Pain's "Battle of the Clouds," a stupendous production vividly portraying the deadly effect of aeroplanes in future wars, will be a nightly free attraction.

CALEDONIAN BADLY MASHES A FINGER

Caledonia To Open Closed Part of Elm Street.

BOARD OF METHODIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL MEETS

County Convention of the W. C. T. U. To Be Held at Caledonia. Narrow Escape of an Automobile Party When Machine Goes Over an Embankment.

Caledonia, O., Aug. 12.—[Special.]—William Glathart, of northeast of here, suffered an injury to the first finger of his right hand, Thursday of last week. He reached down to throw a binder out of gear when his finger caught in the chain and was carried around the cog-wheel, badly mashing the member. Mr. Glathart fainted from the pain of the wound, and it was some time before he could be revived. He was taken to Martel for surgical attention.

At the regular meeting of council, last week, bills amounting to $221.63 were allowed and paid. For some time past, residents on Elm street have wanted the street extended south and connected with Locust street. A part of Elm street on which no residences are located has been enclosed for several years with land owned by parties adjoining, and in order to join with Locust street a piece of land owned by Maris Hart had to be purchased by the corporation. The street and alley committee reported that Mr. Hart had agreed to take $110 for the land needed, and had agreed to build the line fence. The proposition was accepted. The enclosed land will be opened in a short time. A couple of representatives of hose companies were present at the meeting, but as it has not yet been decided to make a connection with the railroad pumping station for fire purposes, no hose was purchased.

Arizona Carmean and three companions narrowly escaped injury last Sunday, while out in an automobile. Mr. Carmean was steering the machine, and in some manner managed to run it off an embankment near the home of Grant Slagle northeast of here. The machine managed to stay right side up, but several parts were badly broken and twisted. After some difficulty it was pushed onto the road and repaired enough to resume the journey.

The Knights of Pythias and Pythian sister lodges will enjoy a social session in their hall, Friday evening.

PITY THE WOMEN AT STATE FAIR

Denied Privilege of Smoking Cigarets on the Fair Grounds.

Columbus, O., Aug. 10.—The state board of agriculture has turned a deaf ear to the many requests that have been made to establish a smoking room in the woman's building at the state fair. Some of the women, in writing to the board, say that cigaret smoking is not nearly so vulgar as were the sheath gowns, and the board is reminded that permission was granted two years ago to a modiste to import a force of human models, who wore the gowns during the fair.

MURDER STILL PUZZLES POLICE

Death of Cleveland Clubman Is Unsolved.

MANY THEORIES BEING ADVANCED

Robbery Doesn't Seem To Be Motive.

An Envelope Filled with Bills Is Left Untouched in Lawyer Rice's Pocket—Watch and Jewelry Also Untouched—Widow and Children Arrive in Cleveland from Summer Home in Massachusetts.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 8. Who killed William F. Rice, millionaire attorney and clubman, is still a mystery. After working two days and running down many near-clews, the entire police are baffled. They have no results. The theory that Rice was murdered by business enemies was exploded. The widow and her four daughters arrived from their summer home in Massachusetts. Accompanying Mrs. Rice and her children was William Nelson Cromwell, the New York attorney and the associate of Rice.

The theory of murder by footpads is the only one left. But there was no robbery. An envelope filled with bills was left untouched in Rice's inner pocket. His trousers pocket was filled with silver and he wore a watch and jewelry.

Mr. Rice on several occasions had trouble with Italians from the settlement known as "Little Italy," lying at the base of the hill below, overlooking the road. Last Fourth of July he had a policeman stop their fireworks in the vicinity of his residence. On other occasions he warned them off his lawn, and they retreated hurling back threats. The presence in the vicinity of the murder of two suspicious looking foreigners gives color to the theory of revenge from that quarter.

CROWD GOES WILD OVER UHLAN'S FEAT

Billings Drives a Fast Mile to Wagon.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 9. At the opening of the second Grand Circuit light harness meeting at the North Randall track, Uhlan, beautiful black son of Bingen proved himself the peer of any trotter who has dared time without artificial aid. Driver to wagon by his owner, C. K. G. Billings, he turned the mile in 2:01, clipping 1¾ seconds from his own record to wagon, already the record for trotting geldings. He knocked a quarter second from the track record set up by Hamburg Belle last fall when she defeated Uhlan by a nose, and pulled the time of any trotter ever sent against time without the aid of a windshield.

The remarkable effort was a fitting climax to the sport of the day. His mile sent the 5,000 horse lovers into a frenzy of enthusiasm, to which they had been gradually inspired by the victory of Teasel, owned by Harry Devereaux of Cleveland, president of the Grand Circuit, in the Fasig stake for 2:10 trotters, and the game but vain fight of Major Mallow, king of the half milers, to best Ross K.

MAKE PORTO RICO AMERICAN RIVIERA

This Is Scheme of Former Manager of New York Casino.

New York, Aug. 8.—Porto Rico, as the Riviera of America, is the scheme of Rudolph Aronson, former manager of the New York Casino, who arrived here, today, from the West Indies on the steamer, Caracas. Aronson says he believes that Porto Rico will become the greatest winter resort in the western hemisphere.

Aronson announces that he has organized a $1,000,000 company to develop the resort feature of Porto Rico, and has secured options on numerous hotel sites throughout the Island.

HOLLIS PAYS THE FINE AND COSTS

For Cursing and Swearing at Elmer Kerr, Sunday.

Frank Hollis was fined five dollars and costs in the court of Justice Charles E. Gompf, this afternoon, after pleading guilty to a charge of provoking assault by cursing and swearing at Elmer Kerr at the postoffice at Cochranton, where both men reside, last Sunday morning, while people were on their way home from church.

Monday evening, Kerr filed an affidavit against Hollis, who was arrested by Constable Benjamin F. Bigford, this morning. Hollis paid the fine and costs.

REFUSES TO REPLY TO WOMEN'S CHARGE OF CIGARET SMOKING

©, 1909, BY HARRIS & EWING.

Cincinnati, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth refuses to dignity the charge that she smokes cigarets with a reply. The agitation, which was started by some women's clubs in the East, has spread to all parts of the country, and it is said that a committee from the National Anti-Cigaret league will call upon the former president's daughter to urge her to deny that she smokes or to promise to quit if she already has indulged in smoking. "I just can't think of denying or affirming the story that I smoke cigarets," said the young woman. "I can neither deny nor affirm any stories that are in circulation about me and will never under any circumstances grant an interview," persisted Mrs. Longworth.

POLICE SAVE MAN FROM FARMER MOB

Mob Wants To Lynch Autoist Who Causes Runaway.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 9. J. A. Keefner, manager of the Eagle Iron works, was saved from lynching at the hands of a band of infuriated farmers, 10 miles east of this city, by the record-breaking run of an automobile load of police. Keefner and his daughter were making a business trip into the country when their machine frightened a farm team driven by William Wardruff, causing the horses to run away and throwing Wardruff to the ground, breaking several bones.

Several farmers working near by swore that Keefner had not taken the precaution to stop when he saw the team becoming unmanageable, and declared that by "hanging a few upstarts from the city" it might teach them a lesson. Keefner's daughter made her way to a farmhouse and phoned the Des Moines police station that her father was going to be lynched by a mob of farmers.

Police Sergeant Breeding and three other officers jumped into an automobile and made the run of 10 miles in seven minutes. They reached the scene in time to find a rope in the hands of maddened farmers and Keefner badly frightened.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR BIG CONCERN

Kenton Plant Involved in Products Company's Troubles.

Trenton N. J., Aug. 9 Judge Cross in the United States district court has appointed Herman B. Baruch of New York and Frank P. McDermott of Jersey City receivers in bankruptcy for the American Farm Products company. They have given bonds for $75,000. The proceedings were begun by Louis P. Amy, Ernest J. Amy and the Continental Finance company, all of New York.

The Farm Products company is the *successor of the American Butter Re*fining company, which was chartered in New Jersey in 1905 with an authorized capital stock of $17,000,000. Subsequently the name was changed and the capital reduced to $3,500,000. The company claims a capacity for making 20,000,000 pounds of butter a year. It has plants at Chicago, Elgin and Rockford, Ill., Kenton and Forest, O., and elsewhere. The plants have a book value of $2,000,000, but the petition sets forth that they are worth not more than half that sum.

TARIFF LAW SHOWS GAIN

Payne-Aldrich Plan Makes a Record.

REVENUE GAINS ARE ENORMOUS

Law Adds Total of $20,214,026 to Surplus.

Omitting Year 1907 the Gain in Revenue Is Greater by $15,000,000 Than Sum Collected in Any Other Year—Total Ordinary Receipts for Year Ending August 6, 1910, Are $678,850,816.

Washington, Aug. 8. Figures showing the operation of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law for its first year, which ended last Saturday, were announced, today, with a total of $20,214,026 to its credit in the surplus of receipts over expenditures, which is nearly $15,000,000 greater than was recorded for the previous record year of 1907.

The total ordinary receipts for the year ended August 6, 1910, were $678,850,816.

*The enormous gain of revenue un*der the Payne-Aldrich law is shown by the statement that, with the year of 1907 omitted, the revenue received under the new law was greater by $75,000,000 than the sum collected in any other year.

The receipts under the new corporation tax were only $207,000 short of the amount assessed.

In the total of disbursements, the item for the construction of the Panama canal for the last year is given as $33,283,018, so that if the treasury were reimbursed by a sale of authorized bonds, Uncle Sam's working balance, today, would total $150,000,000.

MEN TAKE TO WOODS WHEN CLOTHES VANISH

They Are Caught Seining for Fish and Warden Takes Clothes.

Tobe', Ills., Aug. 8. Somewhere in the tastiness of the forest owned by H. N. Higinbotham, near here, five men in nature garb are dodging chance observers and game wardens, especially the wardens, as to the latter they owe their predicament.

The five men stripped off their clothing and were busily engaged in seining for fish in Hickory creek when Deputy Game Warden Werner and his assistants came along. The men took to the woods and the wardens took their clothing.

All of Sunday afternoon, Sunday night and Monday the men stayed in the woods with the wardens keeping a vigilant watch, but the naked men are too fleet of foot to be captured.

As far as any one knows, they are there yet. One woman telephoned the police that she had seen three nude wild men in the woods and asked for protection.

ANNETTE KELLERMAN PUT IN THE SHADE

Rose Pitonof Swims Through Shifting Currents of Boston Harbor.

Boston, Aug. 8. Having succeeded where Annette Kellerman and other noted swimmers failed, fifteen-year-old Rose Pitonof, today, is hailed here as the only person to reach Boston light through the shifting currents of Boston harbor. The girl made the twelve miles in six hours and fifty minutes. Five men in two row boats accompanied her.

The only other swimmer who ever claimed to have reached Boston light was Alois Anderle of New York, who made the trip last summer. His claim is disputed, however, it being said that he touched Nix Mate bar, a shallow, on the way.

Yacht Westward Wins Cup.

Ryde, Aug. 9. The Westward, the American yacht owned by Alexander S. Cochran, added another race to its string of victories by winning the international gold challenge cup. The competitors, in addition to the Westward, were the Meteor, owned by the German emperor, the Germania, the Cicely and the Susanne. The Westward finished the first alone and was declared the winner. The other yachts were drifting miles astern.

CRANK SHOOTS MAYOR GAYNOR

formation concerning Mayor Gaynor's condition.

"Theodore Roosevelt."

It was Mayor Gaynor who delivered the address of welcome to Colonel Roosevelt upon the latter's return from Africa and Europe.

Gaynor Is Cheerful.

Shortly before noon, Gallagher was placed in a closed automobile and taken to the hospital for identification by Mayor Gaynor. The physician refused to allow the man to be taken into the sick room, declaring his presence might excite the wounded man unduly.

The officers declared the identification was unnecessary, as there had been a number of eye-witnesses, so Gallagher was taken back to his cell, and later to taken to Jersey City.

At noon Mrs. Harry Kermit Vingut, daughter of the wounded man, reached the hospital in a racing automobile, but was not allowed to see her father. However, Dr. Lederle and her brother, Rufus Gaynor, came down and told her that her father was cheerful, that the prospect was most hopeful, and that his vitality was counted upon to pull him through.

Dr. J. S. Fielding, assistant pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, reached the hospital shortly afterward. He is connected with the church Mayor Gaynor attends, but was not allowed to enter the sick room. Dr. Page, the pastor of the church, is out of the city on his vacation.

At 12:30 Mrs. Gaynor, the wife of the wounded man, had not reached the hospital, although she was momentarily expected.

Distinguished Throng.

As is the custom on all German liners, the ship's band was on the pier, playing American airs. The great steel pier was jammed with friends of departing passengers. Nearly every one was waving a flag or a colored handkerchief, so that their friends on deck might distinguish them.

On the vessel a distinguished throng had gathered just under the bridge. Among them were President Pedro Montt, of Chile; Mayor Gaynor, and the heads of nearly all the departments of the city government of New York. Among them were William H. Edwards, Rufus Gaynor, Robert Adamson, the mayor's secretary; Archibald R. Watson, corporation counsel; Henry W. Thompson, commissioner of water supply; Health Commissioner Lederle and a number of others.

The group had crowded close together so that a number of late arriving newspaper photographers might secure a group picture.

"Look pleasant, please," joked one of the photographers, and then the shots were fired.

Edwards, shot through the arm, hurled his massive bulk through the crowd and caught Gallagher about the waist:

"Mr. Watson, the corporation counsel, seized his pistol arm," said Edwards, afterwards, "and held it up, so that the bullets, if he fired again, would do no damage. I had him around the waist and the impact of my body—I weigh 270 pounds—slammed him against the railing.

"I didn't care much what I did to him and for a moment I thought he was going overboard. I didn't care and I didn't try to keep him from it. He continued to fight furiously, but he didn't have a chance in the world. I hit him a few times and I hit him hard. That took all the fight out of him."

President Montt, of Chile, who witnessed the affair, said:

"I saw the whole thing. The man had been hanging around for about five minutes. I noticed he carried one hand under his coat-tail in the neighborhood of his right hip pocket, but I was not suspicious of this and paid little more attention to the man.

"The man did not seem to show any signs of excitement. The mayor had just introduced me to a friend from his own neighborhood in Brooklyn who was going on the ship with him. Then he laughingly asked me whether I objected to posing for another group photograph for the benefit of newspaper men who had arrived late, when I heard the tall man yell out something and saw the flash of his gun."

As Mayor Gaynor was being carried into St. Mary's hospital, he gasped weakly:

"Tell the people good bye for me."

As he murmured this he turned his eyes toward his secretary, Robert Adamson. The sight of the distress on Adamson's face, however, seemed to rouse him out of his semi-faint, and he called out, strongly:

"I don't mean that: I guess there's plenty of fight left in me. Who did it?"

Mayor Recognizes Wife.

Hastening by automobile from her home Mrs. Gaynor, the mayor's wife, with the son, Norman, reached the hospital about 1 o'clock. Mrs. Gaynor begged the hospital officials to allow her to go to her husband at once, but the surgeons were then at work on the mayor and she was forced to wait in the ante-room of the hospital for half an hour. Her son endeavored to comfort her during the enforced wait, but the anxious wife, worn by her anxiety and agitated by her long automobile ride, was unable to control her emotion.

Finally at 1:30 the authorities led the sorrowing wife and son to the chamber where the mayor lay.

When Mrs. Gaynor was admitted to the mayor's room, he recognized his wife at once and immediately urged her not to worry about his condition.

The mayor, his wife and his son, Norman, talked for some time, and the wounded man chatted cheerfully, smiling as he told his family about the shooting.

A conference of the surgeons in attendance on the mayor was called for 4 o'clock, after which, it was announced, a bulletin would be issued describing the patient's condition.

THE RICE REWARD IS DOUBLED NOW

Cleveland Police Assert Robbery Motive for Lawyer's Murder.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 9.—The theory that William L. Rice, the wealthy attorney, whose body was found near his Euclid Heights home Friday night, was assassinated for revenge, was practically abandoned by the police. The discovery of new clews, all of which point to attempted robbery as being the motive of the crime, has confirmed their opinion that hold-up men are responsible for the lawyer's death.

A reward of $10,000 for the apprehension of the murderers has been offered, $5,000 by Mr. Rice's law partners and $5,000 by William Nelson Cromwell of New York, which has brought hosts of amateur sleuths into the field, but the police maintain their pessimistic attitude as to the mystery of the murder ever being olved.

RESCUED WHILE DRIFTING ON LAKE

Party of Fishermen Is Saved by Life-Saving Crew.

Toledo, O., Aug. 9. — After being tossed helplessly about in the darkness in a disabled launch on the open water of Lake Erie for several hours, a party of fishermen, four of whom were Columbus men, were rescued from their perilous predicament nearly three miles off Lakeside, O., by members of the government life-saving crew.

Among those who were in the stranded boat were Judge J. M. Killits, recently appointed to the federal bench for the northern district of Ohio, and H. A. Bishop of Toledo; Judge T. M. Bigger, Joseph Willis, E. A. Keller and H. H. Tremaine of Columbus.

TROOPS WILL FIGHT FLAMES

Regular Army Men To Aid the Rangers.

PRESIDENT QUICKLY RESPONDS TO NEED

Sends Message to Secretary of War.

It Is Held at the Forest Bureau, Today, That Present Fires in the Northwest Have Never Been Equaled—At Least 175,000 Acres Are Already Destroyed by the Fires and Flames Are Spreading.

Washington, Aug. 8.—After the first time on record the regular army troops in Montana, Washington, Idaho, Oregon and California were, today, placed at the disposal of forest service to aid in fighting forest fires, which are the greatest in the history of the service.

*President Taft, in response to ap*peals from Pacific coast states, took up the matter with the war department and after several exchanges of telegrams, the president wired the acting secretary of war as follows:

"You may direct the commanding officers of the post upon application to them to lend every assistance possible in the suppression of forest fires."

Relieve Rangers.

It was stated at the forestry bureau, today, that the present fires have never been equalled. There were great fires in 1908 and in 1903, but they were not of such wide scope as the present fires.

Reports received here say that at least 175,000 acres of forests already have been destroyed and the flames are spreading rapidly. The forest rangers have fought valiantly against the advance of the wall of flames, but have been unable to check them. More than 1,500 men are now engaged in the fire fighting in various sections.

The aid of the soldiers will relieve the forest rangers, and it is hoped may result in preventing much greater destruction.

BASEBALL GAME IN HEAVEN, SAYS PASTOR

Preacher Declares Heaven Is But an Evolution of This World.

Matapoisset, Mass., Aug. 8.—Baseball fans are jubilant, today, over the possibility that when they reach the Golden Shore, home runs and base hits may be among the attractions there. At least, that is the idea of Rev. J. C. Tuthill, of the Congregational church here, who in a sermon declared that there was no apparent reason why the great national game of America should not be found in some form or another in the world to come. He said in part:

"Heaven is but an evolution of this world. A christian may love a ball game, and loving it remain a christian. Why, then, is it not safe to prophesy that even the game of baseball will have its place in some spiritual form in heaven?"

MANY REQUESTS FOR POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS

Every State in Union but Two Send in Applications.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Every state in the union, with the exception of Delaware and Nevada, is now represented at the postoffice department in the requests for the establishment of postal savings. The requests from the postmasters in the various states aggregate 290, and from banks 925.

Pennsylvania heads the list with a representation of 396 banks and post*masters wishing to be designated as* depositories. Minnesota follows with ninety-one, Ohio has eighty-five; Wisconsin seventy-three; while Texas and Illinois tie with sixty-nine each.

The remainder are fairly well represented, having an average of about twenty-two applications each.

Drowns In Mysterious Manner.

Lorain, O., Aug. 8. — John Kleikheimer, 43, was drowned at the city bathing beach under the most mysterious circumstances. It was less than a half hour after he left the bath house that one of the bathers stepped on his body, which was less than 100 yards from the shore and under barely four feet of water. There was a large number on the beach, but they heard no cries of distress if any were given, or saw the man struggling for life.

Huntington, president of the Huntington National bank.
